

The Alchemy of Voyal

On a bustling sunny day in Delhi, the roads were filled with traffic and true chaos everywhere. Maya and Shiva, two best friends, wished to get away from the maddening hustle of the city and explore a new one. They excitedly started booking tickets and packing for their trip. As they booked their hotel, Maya thought how delightful it would be if they could have a Genie that does all this for them. And her wish was the hotel's command, the hotel sent them Voyal, a mobile app genie of sorts. A few taps on their phone and their trip was tailored for them.

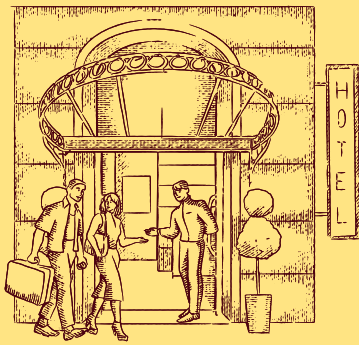

Maya and Shiva were pleasantly surprised when they reached the hotel and were simply just greeted and guided to their rooms. After a nice rest, they were able to order in through the app and when they wanted to step out to explore the city, the hotel personalised recommendations through Voyal, based on their preferences. They experienced the best local restaurants, cafes, and tourist attractions. The app was a fantastic tour guide to the city and a personal Assistant when they were at the hotel.
